Topic of the Master Thesis: English Vs Albanian: Impact of English on Albanian Language in Post-War Kosovo

Name of the Mentor (proposal): Dr. Sejdi Sejdiu

Short description of the thesis:

The intention of this MA thesis is to make a scientific research regarding the impact of the English language on the Albanian one, and more, in the post-war period in Kosovo from 1999 to date. The research will focus mainly on the increasingly reduced usage of authentic Albanian words and expressions, and the other way around, the increasingly usage, often unnecessary one, of Anglicisms in daily conversations, media, etc.

This is not and should not be a huge Herculean task, unfortunately, having in mind the numerous and countless cases where the Albanian language is needlessly, frantically and mercilessly being replaced and used in the outmost absurd and illogical variations.

No invention of the wheel, clearly, but rather an objective, clear and comprehensive description of developments in the abovementioned field – and the way out.
